

ABSTRACT

A pressure vessel liner includes a tubular trunk, and head plates for closing opposite end openings of the trunk. Provided inside the trunk is a reinforcing member integral with the trunk and extending longitudinally of the trunk for dividing the interior of the trunk into a plurality of spaces. The two head plates are joined respectively to opposite ends of the reinforcing member. The pressure vessel liner has an enhanced pressure resistant strength against longitudinal forces.